Summary: Tifa has something important to tell Cloud. Set after advent children.

Lily

It's beeen two years since the battle with Kadaj. Cloud started spending more time at home with me, Marlene and Denzel. 18 months ago I heard the words that I had longed to hear for years. _I love you, Tifa... _The kids found out soon after finding myself and Cloud cuddled up in bed. Marlene as well as Denzel had been over the moon and couldn't wait for us to be a real family.

Everything was going perfectly. I just never expected anything like this to happen. I don't know how Cloud will take it. Maybe he'll leave me and the kids? Cloud walked in from work as I made my way out of the bathroom to throw that little, life-changing object into the bin. The bar was closed today due to inventory so I could tell Cloud now to get it out of the way.

"Hey, babe," Cloud said as he slipped his shoes off.

"Oh! Er, hi Cloud... Good day?"

"You sound distracted," he can always tell.

"Um, well, I have something I need to tell you," I've never been more nervous in my life.

"What do you think about making this family bigger?"

"Oh! Does Barret want us to take in another kid?" Cloud asked

"Not exactly..." I took Clouds hands and placed them on to my stomach, leaving my hands on his.

Clouds eyes widened as he tried to speak "You're... You're..." His eyebrows furrowed together "You're pregnant..." he whispered the sentence as he looked straight into my eyes.

We stood there for what seemed like hours until Cloud spoke up.

"Tifa,"

"Yes?"

"Will you marry me?"

I swear my heart jumped into my throat and my jaw just slacked.

"Tifa?!"

"Oh Cloud! Of course I will!"

So there's our wedding photo. Barret, Yuffie, Vincent, Cid, Red XIII and Cait with Denzel, Marlene, Cloud and myself - holding baby Lily.

End file.
